

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 5, 1882.

No matter how correct republican newspapers may be in other respects, not only their reasoning but their very premises become wrong as soon as they refer to Southern matters. The American of Philadelphia

"There are plenty of Northern republicans who are anxious that the South shall receive every kind of fair play. They have opposed to the utmost of their power the coalition in Virginia, which, if Mr. Garfield had lived, would not have been helped by national patronage to the control of the

That there are not plenty of Northern republicans anxious that the South shall have fair play is proved by the patent fact that it does not have fair play; and there is nothing was as much in favor of the infamous coalition in Virginia as is the man who drew the Presidential prize in the lottery of assassination.

HAVING THE dead wood against them, and being compelled to acknowledge the fact that General Mahone did vote against the repeal of a statute that was and is intended to degrade the men he led and disgrace the cause for which he fought in the civil war, his few white supporters have no other excuse to offer for that remarkable was intended to "allay strife;" for, save the fact that he did vote against the repeal of the statute referred to, nothing is better known than the other facts that the repeal was recommended by every republican Senator on the Miltary Committee, that the only strife that had to be "allayed" was of Senator Edmunds, and that his, Mahone's. single vote for the repeal would have allayed that strife temporarily, which is all that could have been expected.

THE CONSTITUTION provides that each House of Congress shall be the judge of the election of its own members. "Election" in the connection here used can have no other meaning than the right to determine who for the period of twenty-four years. has been chosen and returned according to the regulations prescribed by the laws of the | Mahone, the bill for changing the boundachosen and returned according to the regu- News a port of entry, was taken up and lations of the States in which they reside, passed. the republicans in the House have ousted referred to, and this, too, for no other conceivable reason than to increase their vote and thereby give them a working majority. All history proves that a nation's danger is constitution can be disregarded with im-

THE LATEST development respecting the Mahoneites is the fact that the penitentiary guards they appointed-several of them without ever going on duty-have sold their positions, some for a specific amount in cash | per cent. at once, and others for a monthly sum, to the men who were removed to make places the men who were removed to make places reported favorably. Should a favorable for them; and, what's more, that this sale of opportunity occur it will be taken up tothe offices of the State was made with the knowledge and consent of the officers the Mahoneites put in charge of that institution, Save and except ex-Secretary Sherman's employment of the Treasury mechanics to silence all objection on his side of the repair his private dwelling house, it is doubt- | Champer, and that as the one is the republicans will not oppose ful whether the rapacity of official corrup- it. An effort will also be made to secure tion ever descended to such low depths as it the passage of the bill for a public building

SOME ILLOGICAL protectionists point to the high wages now paid such mechanics as are employed in house building as an evidence of the benefits of a protective tariff, to the Confederate Cemetery at Manassas, and thereby hoist themselves by their own and that those who wish to aid that purpose petard, for the labor of the men to whom they refer is not protected in the slightest degree by the existing tariff. In fact no kind of labor is protected by tariff, and it is only the kind employed in factories and mines that people acquainted with the subject assert is so protected; and that even that assertion is incorrect is proved by the fact that the price of such labor in England has advanced under the operation of free trade in that country.

THE RECEPTS from the tobaccco tax for the ten months ending April 30th were $4,000,000 in excess of those for the corresponding mouths of last year. The money exacted of Virginia's staple increases from year to year, for no other purpose than to enlarge the surplus fund in the Treasury, though the producer is not allowed to sell a pound of his crop to anybody except to the few licensed purchasers.

IT DOESN'T look like a "dead town" to have eighty new houses in progress of erection or under contract at one time, and to support so live a newspaper as the GAZETTE, but yet that is what some Virginians, who prefer to trade out of rather than within the hants of their own State, call Alexandria.

THE WIDOW of a republican has been removed from the postmastership at Ashland in order to make place for the wife of a democratic Mahoneite officeholder. And yet the republicans supply the Mahoneites with all the real effective strength they invitations were issued for the ceremony, but possess. Mr. John Wise's estimate of Virginia r publicans is correct. The right sort of men the tabernacle for want of room. The bride would not tamely submit to such treatment as brings her husband a snug little dowry of their Mahoneite allies are now according them

Some forgetful people express surprise at the statement that the men the Mahoneites have put in charge of the State deaf and dumb asylum do not even understand the sign language in which the inmates of that institution carry on their conversation. When the Mahoneites made Mr. Farr superintendent of public instruction the condition of surprise was eliminated from any of their subsequent appointments.

IT WOULD seem that the law of compensation holds as good with regard to heat as it does to all other qualities, for as the weather of last winter was remarkably mild, that of the recent spring and current summer is phenominally cool, the clothing worn last December being none too warm for

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the Alex's, Gazette, Washington, D. C., June 5.-In the call of States in the House to-day the only response from Virginia was made by Mr. Dezendorf, who introduced a joint resolution for the purchase of the Moore house and adjoining farm at Yorktown. This is the property that was recently purchased by the Yorktown Association, which, it is understood, lost money by the centennial celebration held at that place last fall.

Mr. White, the scalawag from Kentucky, created quite a scene in the House to-day. He introduced a resolution in which collusion was charged between the Ways and State. They regretted and donounced the Means Committee and the whiskey distillers equally lamentable coalition in North Caro- in the matter of the recent passage of the whiskey bill. Mr. Kelley, republican from Pennsylvania, and Chairman of the committee referred to, at once sprang to his feet and without more ado pronounced the charge absolutely and unqualifiedly false. Mr. White retorted by saying that if Mr. Kelley more certain than the fact that Mr. Garfield | were a younger man he, White, would call him to a personal account for such language. To this Mr. Kelley replied that were he a younger man he would render that account in any shape that might be required. Friends crowded around both, and during the excitement a motion was made and carried to lay the resolution on the table. About an hour afterwards Mr. White introduced another resolution on the same subject, this time charging the collusion upon the whskey men and Commissioner Raum, and in doing so said he would like to see who objected. Instantly about a dozen of his own party rose and objected. This so disconcerted him that he asked to withdraw the resolution, but the Speaker decided vote save the ridiculous assertion that it that he was too late. This discomfited him so entirely that he retired to the cloak room and refreshed himself with cold water. Now that the President has returned, rumors of half-bred removals are revived. It is said to-day that among the removals to be speedily made are those of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury French, Assistant Secretary of the Interior Bell and Chief Clerk of the Interior Lockwood. Mr. Gorthat occasioned by the implacable malignity ham, it is said, will replace Mr. Bell, and Mr. Carson Mr. Lockwood. It is understood at the State Department to-day that there is no intention of removing Mr. Lowell from his position as Minister to England. and that no attention has been paid at that department to any of the newspaper or Congressional talk about his removal.

The Secretary of the Treasury this morning emphatically denied the truth of the rumor to the effect that it is proposed to continue the extension of the extended sixes

The Senate bill appropriating $60,000 for a public building at Harrisonburg has been day and passed, though it is against precedent for any State to have two public buildings in one year, and one has already been given to Lynchburg. It is thought, however, that Senator Johnston will be able to has reached under the Mahone regime in at Abingdon, but as that would be three such buildings instead of one in a single year its passage can hardly be expected at this session.

All the democratic members of the House who have been ousted except Mr. Finley of Florida left the House at once, and are already at work to secure a re-election. But Mr. F. was still in his old seat this morning and sat there as though he was cutitled to it.

The large dyeing establishment on 416 street. near the south side of Pennsylvania avenue, was considerably damaged by fire this afternoon. Mr. Lowe, the greenbacker for whom the republicans in the House made a place last Saturday by ousting Gen. The report on General Education came up Saturday morning and called out Dr. A. B Brown, who made one of the grandest talks on the subject ever listened by the body. Dr. B. is Professor of English in Richmond College. Baltimore society is considerably exercised over the disappearance of Mr. Ernault H. Williams. son of Hon. George H. Williams, president of the State senate. Mr. E. H. Williams is a grandson of the late John S. Gittings, from whom he inherited a fortune, it is said, of about $250,000. He is about 23 or 24 years of age, and somewhat eccentric. Some weeks ago he became engaged to be married to Miss Lizzie Hazlett, daughter of Mr. James Hazlett. The wedding was originally set for June 28, but at the solicitation of Mr. Williams the date was changed to June 14. All the usnal preparations for the ceremony were made, but a few days ago he suddenly disappeared, and has not since been heard of. As his prospective marriage was understood to be distasteful to his relatives on account of his youth and peculiar temperament, it is surmised that he was induced to leave the city.

General Fitz Lee's Position.

In reference to a paragraph which appeared in the news columns of the Gazette a few days, ago stating that Gen. Fitz Lee was opposed to Massey for candidate for Congressman at large from this State, we understand that the only opinion that General Lee has expressed on the subject is that, while recognizing the courageous and conscientious course taken by Mr. Newberrv and his friends in the last Legislature, the duty of the 100,000 democrats who voted for Daniel, and all others who would now vote with them, is to name through a convention, at the proper time, properly called, their candidate for Congressman at large, and to which the claims of all aspirants should be referred-so that the nominee should go before the State with the proper credentials. At this date Gen. Lee thinks the question of candidacy lies between Mr. Massey or some aggressive democrat taken from the Southwest or Valley, because from those sections the white voters in the last contest were in greater number disaffected : that a democratic convention should decide the claims of all candidates who propose to run as democrats, and its decision be cheerfully acquiesced in by all true democrats.

[COMMUNICATED. I find the following in the editorial columns of the Richmond Whig and cannot refrain from putting in a word in favor of the good and wise city government of Alexandria, of which I know something by experience and observation:

"The extremes of fanatical Bourbonism and blue-law Puritanism meet at the Council Board of Alexandria. Under an ordinauce of that city not even a glass of soda water can be sold on Sunday. The effect of this policy has been to drive away the numerous excursion parties from Washington and other points which formerly spent their Sundays—and their money—in Alexandria. Tennessee, but no trace of the unfortunate attain them, and though its dimes should be gathered at the expense of Sabbath desecration, drunken Surday carnivals, broken heads and police fines they are dimes all the same, and the Whig would gather them. The "glass of soda water" that virtuous journal refers to is quoted for effect. If any Surday excursion party is diverted from Alexandria by the city ordinance referred to it is not on account of the Council cutting off the soda water, but the whiskey, which is really the "vital current pouring into the Commorwealth" in the estimation of the Whig. Alexandria, in the opinion of all good men, displays her wisdom, her good taste, her respectability and her Christianity when she chooses her Sabbath quiet rather than the dimes of visiting excursionists, and she very wisely prefers to be without such parties as would visit the city in order to patronize her barrooms.
